

A new children's playscape has been installed in St John's Churchyard, New Briggate this week. The pop-up playscape, in situ until mid-October, consists of climbable sculptures and family picnic benches. Situated near to Briggate, the grounds offer parents and carers a relaxing environment to take a break from the busy shopping core and children, a safe and enclosed space to play, use their imaginations and let off steam while in the city centre.
